

Magnus Theatre is a member of the Professional Association of Canadian Theatres (PACT), and the sole professional producing theatre company between Winnipeg and Sudbury. We are presenting two touring shows for schools throughout Ontario from April 8 to 26, 2019.

For Grades K - 6: NIGHTLIGHT by John Lazarus

A bedtime monster lives in six year old Tara's chest of drawers, but only she (and the audience) can see him. Her older brother, ten year old Victor, is also dealing with a monster of his own: a school yard bully. NIGHTLIGHT examines an assortment of fears and anxieties that children face: bullies, nighttime, parental expectations and academic performance. Playwright John Lazarus uses laughter to help kids cope with their fears and to create a safe space to contemplate and talk about them.

For Grades 7 - 12: TAGGED by Dave Deveau

The anonymity of the internet allows us to say and do things we would never do in real life. The harsh realities of cyberbullying come to a head in TAGGED as an officer investigates Jerri and Webber in the relentless online harassment of a fellow student. Torn from the headlines, TAGGED dissects the dangerous potential for harm that exists between social media and young minds.

What do you get?

- Approximately 45 minute performance
- Post show talk back session with the cast
- Study Guide provided before our visit

Workshops are also available that focus on basic theatre skills or may be modified to suit your group's needs. Led by the actors, these workshops are ideal for smaller groups (max: 16 participants) starting at $100 with a performance booking.

What does it cost?

The performance fee is $750 for one performance, or $700 per performance for two or more performances. You can receive an additional $50 off each performance if you book before Friday February 22, 2019 and payment is received by March 29, 2019.
