*“There’s a whole world behind that door.
A world where we’ll belong!”*

Lig is big and Bittle is little, and neither fit into their medium-sized worlds. With everything too big, or everything too small, they each yearn for a place where they belong, where their clothes fit and where they don’t stand out for being different. When a mysterious speck of dust extends an invitation to the magical world of Perfekt Phitt, Lig and Bittle each set out on a quest to find the place where they both fit in.

Lig & Bittle is a charming and energetic musical comedy that celebrates the strengths of diversity, and points out that its the journey, and not the destination, that makes us who we are.

Every show is performed live and is followed by a Q&A session.

Over 30 Years of Theatre in Education Making Learning Interactive, Enriching, and Fun!

An important part of Magnus's mandate is to inspire a long-term passion for the arts by exposing young people to professional theatre arts now. Magnus operates a theatre school with classes and workshops for all ages and drama camps for young people during school breaks. The Theatre in Education programs, introduced in 1987, promote personal growth in students by building self-confidence, emphasizing communication, stimulating imaginations, and promoting self-expression and empathy in a safe environment that stimulates learning

Touring Theatre for Young Audiences An Entertaining & Educational Experience

Magnus is committed to creating passionate theatre that informs, challenges, and empowers young audiences. Since 1972, the Theatre for Young Audiences school tour has successfully brought entertaining, socially relevant productions to elementary and secondary schools throughout Ontario, serving many communities that may not otherwise have the opportunity to experience live theatre.

Virtual Theatre For Young Audiences in the time of Covid-19

The pandemic has changed the way schools and classrooms are run, and Magnus Theatre is changing the way we create our Theatre for Young Audiences tour. This year, we are delivering the theatre experience through a virtual platform. The shows will be performed live on the Magnus stage and transmitted to schools on a closed live stream. Each performance will be followed by a live Q&A period with the cast. Schools who have booked a performance will be sent an exclusive link to be shared with participating teachers and students.
